This diagram illustrates a LEGO Technic assembly step. The main structure is built on a base of orange and grey Technic bricks. It features a central vertical column and several horizontal beams. A callout box in the upper right corner shows a specific sub-assembly: a green 1x2 plate with a black pin inserted into a hole, which is then secured with a yellow and white connector. An arrow points from this callout to the location where the sub-assembly should be attached to the main structure.
